

At Home.
Flores, alias Cholo, the most desperate outlaw on the Mexican frontier, and a murderer of Charles Alexander, has gathered a number of fellow desperadoes, and expresses the intention of crossing into Texas at Bala, a short distance from Brownsville, Texas, and avenging the death of his two brothers, short time since—only a Sheriff's party, the other by Mexican cavalry. This, added to the reported plan of Cortina, has caused considerable anxiety at Brownsville.

A dispatch received from Governor McCormick, of Arizona Territory, saying that the attack of Col. Mason on the Apache Mohaves is the most important blow ever dealt the hostile Indians in the territory. It is known that the most of the murders and robberies are to be charged to them, and that at least two of the killed participated in the massacre of the Loring party near Winklesburg in November. A number of those who lately left the Dale Creek Reservation were found among the slain.

The report of the Mexican Border Commission is now in the possession of the State Department. The Commissioners themselves are on their way to Washington. It is understood that the United States Government will take the ground that it is justified in taking the question of protecting its own citizens into its own hands.

It is said the Government will shortly take vigorous action and measures for protecting the Texas boundaries from the incursions of Mexican smugglers.

A large party of San Franciscans have returned from an unsuccessful expedition to the Arizona diamond fields, and denounce the excitement as a fraud. John F. Cooke, British Vice Consul at St. Louis, Mo., has been engaged for some time past in taking statements and depositions of British subjects who lay claims against the United States Government for various kinds of damage during the war. The principal case is that of J. M. P. Nolan, a young Irishman, who was imprisoned in two or three military prisons, in all about six hundred days, and who claims some $900,000. The claims will amount to considerably over a million of dollars. The depositions and statements will be forwarded to Washington as soon as made out, and the Consular now in session there will consider them.

A dispatch from Yokohama, announces that two-thirds of the treasure lost by the burning of the steamship America at that port has been recovered.

A Madrid despatch states that the government has determined to send fourteen thousand men to reinforce the army in Cuba.

The England, iron masters have reduced the price of finished iron two pounds per ton.

Departures from Alsace and Lorraine of the inhabitants who decline to assume German citizenship are upon an immense scale. It is estimated that 88,000 emigrating associations will take up their residence in Nancy alone, while a large number will go to other places.

Spanish palace Escorial, situated on the southeast slope of the Sierra Guadarrama and about twenty-five miles from Madrid, has been destroyed by lightning. This was the most celebrated sleep of the long line of Spanish Kings from Charles I. down. There were the treasure chests of the crown, here collected works of art, the relics of the saints, twenty thousand rare values of Spanish literature, and four thousand rare MSS. written in the Greek, the Hebrew, and the Arabic language. All have now risen skyward in flame and smoke. The palace was built during the seventeenth century by Philip II, in fulfillment of a vow that he would build the most magnificent temple ever dedicated to St. Lawrence would give him over the battle of St. Quentin. Twenty-one years and a sum equal to fifteen million dollars, were expended in completing the work. The church under which the monarchs were buried, by Philip IV, was a triumph of architectural skill. Porphyry and marble of the richest description encrusted the walls, and on either side were placed statue portraits of kings and queens. Benvenuto Cellini made the altar, presented to Philip by the Duke of Tuscany, and which is said to have been brought from Barcelona on men's shoulders, was there and must have been mutilated by conflagration. The loss of so many venerable relics will be deeply regretted by the scholars, the artist, the historian, and antiquarian.

There are serious apprehensions in Ireland of another famine. The Irish peasantry in some parts of the country are writing to their friends in this country that the utmost anxiety prevails in regard to the food supply, and that fears are entertained of widespread and terrible destitution. Information derived from the most reliable sources leads to the conclusion that there is too much reason for the prevailing apprehension. A writer in an English journal, who has made a special tour through Great Britain for the express purpose of ascertaining the state of the crops, and who is recognized as an authority on such subjects, estimates the value of the potato crop to be less by seventeen millions of pounds sterling than that of an average year, and of this loss more than one half falls on Ireland. If this estimate is correct, it may be considered certain that great distress will exist the coming winter among the poorer classes, who depend principally upon their potato patches for subsistence. The wheat crop of Great Britain is most likely to fall short an average one.

The great summit crater of Mauna Loa in the island of Hawaii is again in eruption. There is no flow of lava yet.

Another Way.
We have all heard of the man who was wrecked at sea, and washed himself ashore with a cake of soap he happened to have in his pocket, and here is the story that at first hearing sounds ridiculous. But who knows? It is said that a London apothecary happened to get lost overboard at sea. His pocket, however, was full of Seidlitz powders. They became wet; they mixed; they generated carbonic acid gas; his pocket was swelled; some way or other the gas could not escape; he floated; he was saved. And of course he was no sooner landed upon dry and familiar shore, than he gets out a patent for a new, patent, self-acting life-preserver, composed of small packets of carbonate of soda and tartaric acid to be worn around the waist upon the person.

INSPIRATION.

Deem ye that I am an old man
With inspiration given?
The chain which binds us to the sphere
Above us, is the most divine.
By Time shall we be driven.
And through its golden links, though all
Unseen,
Come thoughts and words divine.
The sacred fire from heaven still burneth
On many an earthly shrine.

And when we wander through the realms
Of dreamland,
Are not dim starlings sent;
Faint glimpses of the unveiled future
With past remembrance blend?
Whence comes the eloquence which so enraptures
And binds to its control
The most forgetful of our natures
Which ways the very soul?

The strains of music, which will charm us
From youth to hoary age;
The songs of triumph which poetry hath
Scattered;
O'er every glowing page?

And O, by childhood, such rare thoughts
Are uttered,
Such prophecies divine,
They seem to stand midway 'twixt earth
And heaven,
And then seem to shine.

Some rays of glory from its portal;
Which, though the most forgetful of our natures,
We gain some gleamings of the life immortal.
From wisdom from above,
Man is but little lower than the angels,
If true to his high trust.
And still, if he heed them, glad evangel
Shall raise him from the dust.

TIMMS'S STORY.

Or, the Story of Rival California Lovers.

Mapes was chivalrous by nature; he had a heart as true as the treasure of the crown, and a reputation even in the cannon's mouth. His enthusiasm was aroused by the stories of deeds of desperate daring; while he had nothing but contempt for even success won by crooked and indirect means. Timms, on the contrary, believed there was policy in war, and that the end justified the means, particularly if the end was attained. Companions of Timms's, he was called a "policy" man, and he was not without merit in competition for scholastic and such other honors as the locality afforded, without even a momentary break in his career. Timms, by his own admission, was a complete ruffian of friendly relations. The least provocation would lead him to quarrel with the neighborly belle, were to be won; and to those none other might aspire, in the face of such formidable competition as that of Timms. # THE TRAVELERS MET.

The travelers met, with a long, inquiring gaze, when from their eyes simultaneously burst the words: "Mapes—Timms." After a moment of mute surprise, Mapes, spurring his mustang, drew nearer Timms.

"So we meet, at last. I have been wanting to see you this many a year."

The movement seemed ominous to Timms, and he cried out: "Don't! I don't know what I have no weapons! Besides, I have kept my oath—at least, as well as I could. I never told the reason why you didn't at the engagement, nor even once uttered a syllable about the sawed-log—upon my solemn oath!"

"I wasn't thinking of the ducking," said Mapes.

THE CARE FOR FRANCE.

Among the rare and curious volumes in the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, is a little French book with this title, "The Holy Gospels of our Saviour Jesus Christ." Translated by Le Maître de Sacy. Popular edition. Dedicated to the French Nation by Working Men. With an Introduction by the Authors of the "Parliamentary History of the French Revolution," Paris, 1837.

The introduction begins by upholding the cheapness of the volume is owing to the fact that the printers gave their services gratuitously. The significance of things is definite; but it is its quality, the truth is a sliding scale, and of religious culture measures the degrees. It is indeed our light thrown upon nature, which interrupts beauty; but if that light is religious, finer elements will become apparent, and beauty become more clear. It is sympathy with the outward world that unlocks the treasures; that sympathy is born of religion, and is strengthened and deepened by every accession of spiritual life. To the mind of God, undoubtedly, every fact in the material world has its significance, a precise and definite value. The universe is his art, and struggles to express the crystallized and imprisoned thoughts which he has written there. A delicate correspondence connects every beast and bird and tree and flower with some type of thought, or passion, or emotion, present in the Creator's mind at their foundation, and which they are to manifest to the world.

But we rise toward, and appreciate so much of this infinite art as the purity of our inner life can gauge. Likeness to the divine nature is the quality, the truth of the divine mind. All the changing degrees of significance, which the objective world assumes, from the feeling of health and buoyancy and animal enjoyment of the elements, to the lowest minds experience in a clear and bracing morning, to the unfathomable inspiration of the poet and the artist are determined by its presence in the soul.

THE BOYS.

There come the boys, O dear, the noise
The whole house fills the racket;
Behold the crew of Harry's pants,
And keep o'er Bertie's!

But never mind, if eyes keep bright,
And limbs grow straight and limber;
We'll rather lose the tree's white bark
Than find the sound the timber!

Now hear the tops and marbles roll!
The down—oh we believe them!
And I must watch the banisters,
For I know boys who ride them!

Look well as you descend the stairs,
I often find them make no noise
By shifty toys that make no noise
Just when their noise is wanted.

The boys are in the land of nod,
By shifty toys that make no noise
Just when their noise is wanted.

Our Free School System.—The system of common schools as now existing in this State is proving decidedly unsatisfactory to the friends of public education, and in some points of view positively injurious to the cause.

The tax is inadequate to sustain regular terms of first grade schools, and by reason of competition with private high schools one half the year, render the latter sufficiently unprofitable to drive thoroughly competent teachers from the profession. There are many who would be regular patrons of such private institutions as Beechwood Seminary, and Rural Academy, who are now demoralized towards education by reason of a five months free school in each year, and the minds of their children permitted to run wild the other half year.

Under the influence of this system, private high schools are languishing, and in some instances have suspended for want of adequate patronage. The general or more universal diffusion of the knowledge of reading and writing is doubtless best accomplished even by the common school system as it at present exists and is being operated; but to those who desire to give their children something of a more advanced education than mere reading and writing, the effect is a deleterious. The more wealthy—though at additional cost—will avail themselves of distant colleges, whereas the mass of moderate circumstances, who might be able to give their children good education if they had home institutions within reach, will be compelled to raise them up without such advantages.

Therefore, the question arises, what is the remedy? The answer is only found in an earnest support of private high schools. The friends of education must work to sustain these institutions in every community. Give them not tacit, but active support.

The Mayfield Democrat says: "On last Saturday evening, about 2 o'clock, the air was full of leaves, which came from the southwest. Many of them seemed to come directly from the clouds. Most of them were cotton-wool. It is supposed that they were blown up by the terrible tornado which occurred in Arkansas on the same day."

Sept 25-26 J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

We have received a well written communication from a lady resident of Hickman on the subject of "Village Gossip," which we have neglected publishing because of its absorbing nature. We commend the article. It is not high crime, such as robbery and murder, which destroy the peace of society. The village gossip, family quarrels, jealousy and hickerings between neighbors, model-consumes and meddling, and the worms which eat into all social happiness.

The Science of Advertising.

Judicious advertising always pays. You can't eat enough in one week to last you a whole year, and you can't advertise on that plan either.

People who advertise only once in three months forget that most folks can't remember anything longer than about seven days.

If you can arouse curiosity by an advertisement, it is worth a great deal more than a mere notice.

The fair sex don't hold all the curiosity in the world.

A constant dropping will wear a rock. Keep dropping your advertisements on the public and they will soon melt under it like rock salt.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like tearing out a dam because the water is low. Either plan will prevent good times from ever coming.

"Dull times," it is said, "are the best for advertisers." Because when money is tight, and the people are forced to economize, they always read the advertisements to see who sells the cheapest, and where they can trade to the best advantage.

A District Fair.
The Columbia Dispatch, and also the Mayfield Democrat, comment very favorably on the article which appeared in the Hickman Courier week before last, in regard to "District Fair." Ballard county will no doubt also join.

If some leading farmers and mechanics, favorable to the enterprise, will now take hold, and put the movement in shape, the Association can be successfully organized.

Sept 25-26 J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

DEATH OF AUSTIN TYLER, Esq.
Mr. Austin Tyler, one of the most worthy, and we believe the oldest resident of Fulton county, died, at his home, eight miles from Hickman, Monday night, the 7th instant. Mr. Tyler was born in Shelby county, Ky., Aug. 6th, 1807, and was consequently something over 71 years of age.

He resided in Fulton county in the early part of 1825, 47 years ago, and has resided here ever since. During life he held many public positions in the county, being commissioned as far back as 1826 or 1828 as Magistrate by Gov. Jo DeSha. There was probably no man ever so intimately connected with the history and public affairs of Fulton, and old Hickman, and the county has never had a more faithful, a more respectable, or more worthy citizen. He came here when this country was a woods—here were few settlers—the town of Hickman not thought of, and he was an active participant in all the enterprise, and vicissitudes, which have developed this section from a wilderness to its present status of prosperity.

We have heard him say that he assisted to survey and cut out the first public road ever established in the county. In his death, truly has an old landmark been erased—one of our earliest pioneers has fallen. He was blessed with a long, honorable, and useful life. May his soul rest in peace.

Mr. Tyler's death was a great loss to the community. He was a man of high character, and his death is a great loss to the community.

Sept 25-26 J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

For the benefit of those law-abiding citizens who refuse to assist officers when properly summoned, we publish the Statute in that case made and published in Chapter 28, Section XIX Revised Statutes vol. 1st.

THE HICKMAN BRASS BAND have been invited, and we suppose will be in attendance.

A considerable delegation from Hickman and also some from Madrid Bend are expected.

Sept 25-26 J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

GEELEY HATS.
The Columbia Dispatch thus discusses Paduch's baby show:

Leo Faxon, the gushing young local editor of the Kentuckian, is loud in demand for a baby show at the Paduch fair. Whether he has babies to exhibit, or wants to exhibit himself as one, he does not say. The editor of the Age, who is an old man, is opposed to the show, declares that he himself will have nothing to do with the baby business.

THE LEVEE VOTE.

The proposition of building a levee from Hickman to the highlands of Madrid Bend is to be voted upon by the land owners of the overflowed sections, on next Saturday, the 19th inst. The tax to be realized is not to exceed $2 per acre, under any circumstances, and will probably have to be paid in annual installments of 15 or 20 cents. The overflowed lands now would probably average only about $2 per acre, and redeemed would be worth from $10 to $15. This in addition to securing a permanent road for the transportation of produce to market. The additional population which would occupy these lands, when protected, would bring a rich trade to Hickman. It promises more rich results to the town of Hickman than any enterprise discussed before our people for many years. If the vote of next Saturday is favorable, the levee can be built. If it is defeated the enterprise will fail. The friends of the levee, the friends of the town of Hickman should interest themselves in this matter. The charter will be accepted provided a full vote can be obtained, and our citizens should interest themselves to secure a full vote. All land owners, male or female, are entitled to vote—one vote for every 80 acres—or fraction of 80 acres. A poll is to be opened at the City Hall in Hickman, and also at Campbell's School House, on Sassafras ridge, and the election to be held in every respect as other State elections.

Indiana.
The State of Indiana, according to latest advice received at Hickman, is in doubt; though the now appearance is that the Democrats have carried the State by a very small majority. We won't be surprised however, if the official count gives it to the Republicans. The Democrats have held their own, if not gained in Congressmen, though the gallant Vorhees is among the defeated.

Nebraska.
Nebraska's Radical by an increased vote—about doubling former majority.

District of Columbia.
The District of Columbia, right under the nose of the Administration, re-elects a Republican by an increased majority.

Connecticut.
The elections in Connecticut were merely local, but the towns heard from generally indicate Republican gains.

A RAILROAD SALE.—By reference to an advertisement in this issue, it will be seen that the entire road-way of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, to be sold in Nashville, Dec. 10th, 1872, for the benefit of all the holders of mortgage bonds. Some of our West Kentucky millionaires have now an opportunity to come in.

Mr. Mac Oakley, a citizen of this county, and a resident of the "bottom" below Hickman, was accidentally killed on Wednesday last. He was driving a wagon, when the horses took fright, and in the run-away dashed him out against a log, injuring him so badly that he died in about an hour.

Dr. J. M. Glazier, wife of Dr. Randolph Glazier, after a long and lingering illness died in this city, Thursday morning last.

THE Hickman people were again circled, Thursday and Thursday night. A good crowd was out at the night call. Strange it is, but they will go.

HICKMAN LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.—Our enterprising young book store friend, Wm. Frenz, has conceived the idea of fitting up, in proper style, Frenz's Hall, as a City Library and Reading Room. He proposes carpeting the hall, furnishing fires, and every convenience, and also fits it up generally in the best style. He has secured one hundred numbers of a new literary digest, and the membership is placed at very low figures, so much so, that the gentleman or lady, who buys only one or two books a year, will find the library a great economy, besides supplying them an infinitely larger and better selection of reading matter. Besides he will keep all the leading and latest periodicals and newspapers. Members, also, will be entitled to a chance in a splendid music box. We beg the reading public to take the matter into consideration, and for further information, call on Wm. Frenz, Clinton Street.

THE ELECTIONS.

Pennsylvania.
The returns from Pennsylvania indicate the election of the Radical candidates for State offices by a majority not less than 25,000, and possible more. The Grant Republicans also gain two or three Congressmen. Hartranft their candidate for Gov. was no doubt the most "beatable man in the Radical party," but Grants popularity and power took him through.

Ohio.
In Ohio the Liberals made very large gains, but not enough to carry the State—though the Democrats gained several Congressmen. In 1868 the Republican majority was 41,500, and it is only 10, or 15,000.

Indiana.
The State of Indiana, according to latest advice received at Hickman, is in doubt; though the now appearance is that the Democrats have carried the State by a very small majority. We won't be surprised however, if the official count gives it to the Republicans. The Democrats have held their own, if not gained in Congressmen, though the gallant Vorhees is among the defeated.
